1. Introduction

Clydesdale Housing Association Limited recognises that introducing a flexible working policy will help to ensure compliance with the right to request flexible working brought in by the Employment Act 2002 and Work and Families Act 2006.

The policy has also been introduced to help ensure equality and fairness throughout the process and aid employees work life balance. Employees have the right to request changes to their working hours or place of work under the statutory right in the Employment Rights Act 1996 to request flexible working.

Clydesdale Housing Association Limited believes its staff members are its most valuable asset and is committed to attracting and retaining the very best and utilising all talent and experience available. Clydesdale Housing Association Limited understands that it is important for staff members to establish a work life balance as many individuals have personal responsibilities outside from work. Flexible work may allow more freedom for employees to organise their employment to fit in with other parts of their life.

3. Equal Opportunities

Employment Act 2002

In April 2003 the Employment Act introduced the right for parents of young and disabled children to apply to work flexibly in order to strike a better balance between their home and work responsibilities.

Work and Families Act 2006

- Detail the flexible working procedure that must be followed and also provides standard letter templates and forms to use.
- Detail the employers' responsibilities contained in the Act and the recommendations to consider workers' request for a flexible working arrangement.
- Point out is only applicable when the employee instigates the request to work flexibly (and not when it is instigated by the employer).
- Re-emphasise a desire to create a good place to work for everyone by aiming to retain skills and experience and adapting to changes in society.

6. Eligibility

Under provisions set out in the Employment Rights Act 1996 every employee with 26 weeks continuous service has the right to request a change to their contractual terms and conditions of employment. An employee can only make one statutory request within a 12 month period.

7. Types of Flexible Working

Some examples of flexible working are documented below, however please note this list is not exhaustive.

Part time working

A system whereby the employee is contracted to work fewer than the standard full time hours. There are many variations to part time working such as later start or earlier finish times, afternoons or mornings only and fewer working days in the week.

An arrangement whereby two part time (or occasionally more) employees share the responsibility of a position. In a 'shared responsibility' arrangement the individuals both carry out all the duties of the job simply by picking up the work where the other employee left off. Term time working

The employee remains on a permanent contract, but can take unpaid leave of absence as agreed.

Working from home

An approach whereby an employee carries out a proportion of his/her duties from home rather than on Clydesdale Housing Association Limited's premises.
